OPEN AIR LINE LINDY'S LEAVE FOR NEW YORK

Take-off Postponed 24 Hours
By Unfavorable Tropical Weather.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 12.—(INS).—Delayed 24 hours by unfavorable weather and the desire to rest after their strenuous tropical journey, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were to leave here today in their private touring plane for New York.

Now that their work of opening a new air mail line to South America and exploring the dense jungles of Guatemala and British Honduras is over, the Lindberghs are anxious to return home. Although both the Lone Eagle and his wife are in fine physical condition despite their arduous journey, they confessed that flying more than 9,000 miles in 20 days was a tiring proposition, and allowed cloudy skies and threats of storms hold them here for 24 hours longer than they intended to remain.

Dr. Alfred A. Kidder, of the Carnegie Institute, who accompanied the Lindberghs on the exploratory flight, paid generous tribute to the airman's work in behalf of archeology, stating that five years of work had been accomplished in the 25 hours during which Col. Lindbergh piloted his plane over the tropic jungles.

Dr. Kidder said that the flight had resulted in discovery of important Mayan ruins; built and inhabited by a civilization which flourished 1,500 years ago.

BLOODY CHINA HAS MORE WAR

National Party Declares War
Against General Feng—
Fighting Starts.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—(INS).—The muddled situation in China has been further complicated by a formal declaration of war by the Nationalist government on General Feng Yu-Hsiang, a Shanghai dispatch to the Daily Express today declared.

Feng's troops, the Dispatch added, have swarmed over the North-western province and are threatening Hankow.

President Chiang-Kai-Shek has ordered the arrest of Minister of War Lu Chung-Lin on charges of plotting against the government.

Shanghai dispatches to the London Times report that the combined armies of Feng Yu-Hsiang and Yeng Hsi-Shan are already advancing on Nanking, having already occupied parts of the province of Honan.

The Nationalist government has ordered a punitive expedition against Feng, who has declared himself in favor of General Chang Far-Kwai, leader of a vast insurrectionary army which has been threatening the peace of China for several weeks.

Nationalist troops have commandeered a score of Chinese steamers and a huge amount of munitions to aid in the expedition against Feng, according to a Central News dispatch from Shanghai, a rigid censorship has been imposed.

BRUINS CHANGE SERIES ASPECT BACK OF BUSH

Still Want Jack Quinn To Work For Macks Against Root.

(By DAVIS J. WALSH)
(I. N. S. Sports Editor.)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 12.—With one of those bland changes of countenance of which baseball only could be capable, the 1929 world series had become almost a fresh document between the setting of one sun and the rising of another and today it was destined to conduct its fourth game, not as a formality, but as a grim, deadly necessity. The affair no longer was playing the buffoon. It had become drama again.

This state of affairs was reflected merely by the fact that the Chicago Cubs won a ball game yesterday from the Philadelphia Athletics. This didn't prove that the Cubs were a better club than the Athletics. It only established the fact that, a National league really wasn't under obligation to lose every game of every series, until the sun shall rise no more and the moon becomes an arc light in limbo. It meant that a contest of some kind was being made by the National league for the first time since 1926.

This was, indeed, important. A lot of people were beginning to think, after 10 straight victories by the American league, that the boys were representing the Three-Eye league, with only one of them open.

ROOT TO HURL

Anyhow, this fourth game this afternoon figured to be the dark meat item on the bill of particulars. The Cubs, trailing by two victories to one, were ready to pitch Charley Root, the man who had given them a million dollars' worth of pitching in the first game and got a quarter of pound of Bologna for his trouble.

The Athletics, perhaps not quite as debonair as of yore but still quietly confident, had a choice of three men, Jack Quinn, Lefty Grove and Rube Walberg, with the comforting assurance that they couldn't go far wrong with any of them.

There were less than 30,000 paid admissions at Shibe Park yesterday, one of the smallest world series crowds of the last 10 years. Now that it has been discovered that the world series is a contest and not a pursuit race, they may come closer to selling the place out today.

When the new day dawned, the sky was slightly overcast and a chill wind asked very inquiring questions of a man's coat collar, particularly the coat collars of those who waited, according to custom, for the opening of the general admission portals. The forecast, however, was for another favorable day.

PITCHER UNDECIDED

But nothing was beyond the bounds of reason after the chances the Athletics blew yesterday. In fact, there was no denying that a ball club that can lose behind the kind of pitching Earnshaw gave it can lose again in the nose too distant future. As they waved a futile stick at Bush in the pinches they looked strangely like the Cubs had looked in Chicago.

If anything, Joe McCarthy's lack of alternative in the naming of his pitcher was a tactical advantage. Lacking Connie Mack's wealth of candidates, Joseph could afford to stake his all on Root with an easy conscience. He had nobody else and was glad of it, at that. Root is a fine money pitcher.

Connie says he doesn't make his selection until 15 minutes before game time but this is overcome by the fact that so many people are willing to make it for him.

It was held this morning that Connie should not pitch Grove because a defeat of his ace at this time would be psychological disaster. On the other hand failure to start Grove today would mean that four games of the series had been played with this bellwether of the staff pitching less than five innings. If the world was conducted on that basis man would wear his best suit to work and his overalls on Sunday.

However, this bird Quinn had been hovering in the background over-long, too, and might be due for an airing, nobody frankly knew what was coming. It even was said that Walberg was a sound possibility to start the game.

Cult Discoveries May Lead to Murder Trail

In the upper left hand corner (left to right) are Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, Mrs. Ruth A. Wieland and Mrs. William Rhodes, mother of sixteen-year-old Willa Rhodes, whose body was discovered buried in a coffin under the Rhodes' Venice, Cal., home, who have promised to make a complete confession regarding the activities of the mysterious "Great Eleven Cult" now sought by the California police. Leading up into the mountains, the trail brought police to Susana Pass, where they discovered a four-room temple of the Great Eleven Cult with a lavishly furnished room, set aside for the arrival of the Messiah. All the furniture and a massive throne (lower left) were carved with a gigantic lion's head. Left is Gale Conde Banks, supposed to be the financial head of the cult and who surrendered to Los Angeles police, agreeing to tell of his activities.

ZEPPELIN CREW KICKS ON TRIP

Dr. Eckener Called As Media-
tor When Pole Flight
Seems Jeopardized.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 12.—(INS).—In order to carry out the projected plans for a dirigible flight to the North Pole in the Graf Zeppelin, Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the airship, may be called in today by officials of the Zeppelin company to induce the crew to make the journey.

The Polar flight was to have been commended by Dr. Fridjof Nansen, famous explorer, and was scheduled to cover about 17,000 miles.

Although declining to give their reason, the crew unanimously decided not to make the voyage. It is understood that financial considerations may be involved.

Dr. Eckener decided some time ago he would not participate in the expedition because of the state of his health.

Captain Ernest Lehmann, chief officer of the Graf, confirmed the crew's refusal to participate. He blamed the "technical difficulties" involved, which it was feared might endanger the Zeppelin and rob the crew of its livelihood, for the refusal.

DISCUSS CONDITIONS OF DELAWARE HOME

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 12.—(INS). Conditions at the Girls' Industrial school, Delaware, are to be discussed at a luncheon and conference here this afternoon between Welfare Director H. H. Griswold and Prosecuting Attorney W. W. Hill, Delaware.

In advance of the conference Griswold expressed his willingness to cooperate with Prosecutor Hill in an investigation of the situation "so long as such investigation does not affect the morale of the institution."

Hill this week announced his intention of conducting a grand jury probe into allegations of immoral conditions and incompetency at the Delaware home. Common Pleas Judge Harry W. Jewell at Delaware granted Hill's request for a special grand jury. The jurors probably will assemble at Delaware next Wednesday.

State Group Honors Local Phone Firm

"For meritorious service and consistent advancement in the telephone art," the Public Service Honor Award of The Ohio Independent Telephone Association has been made to The Citizens Telephone Co., of Circleville, according to announcement at Columbus by Secretary-treasurer Frank L. McKinney of the state organization.

This award is the greatest honor that the Ohio Independent Telephone Association can bestow upon a member company and is awarded at infrequent intervals to operating companies notable among the associated companies for progressive development and exceptional public service.

Complete modernization of its plant and the adoption of a company policy designed to insure adequate and efficient telephone service to the territory it serves throughout the future, were reasons for the selection of The Citizens Telephone company to receive the award at this time. The grant was by unanimous vote of the board of directors of the association.

While the special recognition accorded to The Citizens Telephone Co. by other operating companies of the state, is most gratifying to officials and employees of the company the award in itself constitutes a beautiful and lasting memorial of the association's action, and will hang in a prominent place in the local offices.

The Public Service Honor award of the association consists of a large scroll in cast-bronze, mounted upon a base of polished walnut in the form of a shield. The central motif of the bronze scroll is a laurel wreath with the words "for special merit" at the top and below the brief injunction "service, progress, success."

Formal presentation of the award will be made to General Manager E. W. Lutz of The Citizens Telephone Co. by Association President J. Warren Safford of Troy, Ohio, who will come to Circleville for the purpose in the near future, accompanied by other officials and executives of the association.

WAS BORN IN HUMBLE HOME IN SCOTLAND

Premier To Rest Following
Three Speeches With-Ride
Up Hudson.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Sixty-three years ago a babe was born in a humble cottage at Lomsemouth on the bleak, wind-swept coast of Scotland.

But for the grace of indomitable will and the burning desire to aid his fellow men, Ramsay MacDonald might well have turned out a fisherman or farm laborer.

Today, as Prime Minister of Great Britain, first commoner of his land, leader of the working man and the cause of international peace the star of Ramsay MacDonald hangs high.

On his 63th birthday, the visiting premier has something to celebrate. He came to a foreign land on a delicate diplomatic mission. He leaves with his message of amity enthusiastically received and Great Britain and the United States brought side by side in an invitation for reduction of armament.

CAKE AT BREAKFAST

So busy has been his average day that the Prime Minister's official family and his daughter, Isabel, decided to take no chances but serve a birthday cake at breakfast today.

Hundreds of telegrams poured in congratulating the prime minister on his natal day. Isabel said that she had a surprise for her father but would not reveal what it was.

Following a strenuous day of three speaking speeches, the Premier planned a long-delayed rest including a private party and a picturesque Hudson River picnic.

The Prime Minister had no official speaking engagements after a day of three important addresses in which he told gatherings of his hopes for world peace as the result of his conferences with President Hoover.

He described the new diplomacy as "the spirit of men coming together not for the purpose of dividing the world into alliances and groups, but for the purpose of by their own agreements helping the world to come to a general agreement that will be universal and not meticulous."

"During the entire course of the conversations between President Hoover and myself there has never been any idea whatever of an exclusive understanding between Great Britain and the United States," he said. "There has been nothing discussed on the same basis with all the powers in the world."

"The understanding we have been trying to establish will always be incomplete and unsatisfactory until it has become the common possession of all the nations on the face of the earth."

"We shall never be able to affect physical disarmament until we have succeeded in effecting moral disarmament."

"We have declared no war can take place between us. We cannot conceive any circumstances under which the armed forces of the United States and Great Britain can come into conflict."

Then MacDonald, the peace maker, revealed to some extent how he and President Hoover came to their epochal agreement. "In that simplicity and informality, we conducted our negotiations and that is the reason why in four brief days we came to conclusions that under the old diplomacy would have taken at least as many months to have achieved."

The Prime Minister's address before the council of foreign relations was broadcast internationally.

Vorys said that although 190 municipalities in the state have complied with the provision of the new state aviation code requiring these markers, numerous places have as yet failed to inform him that markings have been made.

Villages in Pickaway-co which have failed to provide markings are Ashville, Commercial Point, Darbyville, New Holland, South Bloomfield, Tariton and Williamsport.

Circleville's air marker is on the R. L. Brehmer Ford garage.

EXECUTIVES MEET

A meeting of the executive committee of the Pickaway-co Farm Bureau will be held Saturday at 7:30 P. M. All members are urged to be present.

The meeting will be chiefly concerned with the reports of the different heads. Plans for the coming Pumpkin show will also be discussed.

The Church Invites You

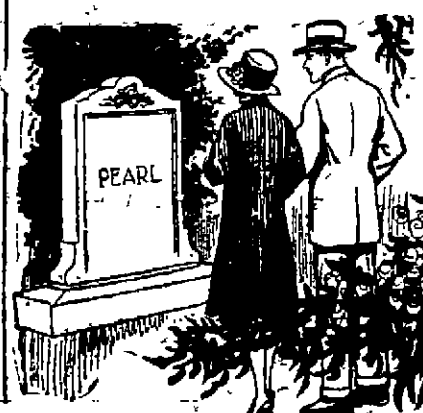

Roger Babson, the noted statistician, shows by studies; covering many years, that business prosperity always accompanied periods of religious interest and revival; that when people forget God, business reverses and financial depressions follow.

This is a practical interpretation of the Bible admonition, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

these things shall be added unto you."

To make the kingdom of God first requires a mental and spiritual effort which is not likely made without a halt in one's thinking. The Sunday services of public worship provide a means of quietly waiting on God and making His kingdom first. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Only seven out of every hundred of the 316,000,000 of India can read and write.

At the beginning of the last century the Bible was not printed in any African dialect. Today it is printed in whole or in part in 244 tongues.

When the moving picture, "The King of Kings" was shown in Mexico City, at the suggestion of some theological students, copies of the Gospels were distributed to people as they came out of the theater. Most of the people welcomed them and asked for extra copies.

The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions distributes its message among one hundred million people of 93 nationalities.

Last year America gave to religious, charitable, philanthropic and educational causes an average of $7,000,000 a day or $2,330,000,000 in all. That was more than the income of any government on earth except the United States and Great Britain.

The religious affiliations of President Hoover and his cabinet are: President Hoover, Quaker; Vice President Curtis, Methodist; Secretary of State Stimson, Presbyterian; Secretary of Treasury Mellon, Presbyterian; Secretary of War Good, Presbyterian; Attorney General Mitchell, Presbyterian; Postmaster General Brown, Congregationalist; Secretary of the Navy Adams, Unitarian; Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Congregationalist; Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Methodist; Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Presbyterian and Secretary of Labor Davis, Baptist.

Thirteen Mistakes Of Life

Judge McCormick of San Francisco mentions the following as the thirteen fundamental mistakes of life:

1. To attempt to set up your own standards of right and wrong.

2. To try to measure the enjoyment of others by your own.

3. To expect uniformity of opinions in this world.

4. To fail to make allowance for inexperience.

5. To endeavor to mold all dispositions alike.

6. To look for perfection in our actions.

When the quake occurred on a fault-line running east and west, it was found that the moon would be in the corresponding quadrant of the sky. Four out of five of the strongest shocks occurring in our place would come when the moon was in the same position it had been in during the main shock. Just why this relationship between the moon's position and earthquakes is so consistent has not yet been explained.

Find Relation Between Moon and Earthquakes
After studying the records of more than 1,200 earthquakes in California which have occurred since 1812, a Pacific coast scientist comes to the interesting conclusion that all the quakes came when the moon was in a certain quarter. The quakes occur on a fault-line, or crack in the structure of the earth's crust. It was found that when the fault-line ran in a northwesterly direction the earthquake would come when the moon was between the meridian and the western horizon or when it had not yet arisen and was in the directly opposite position.

WHY SEND MISSIONARIES TO HEATHEN LANDS? This question was asked Dr. E. Stanley Jones recently. His reply in part was: "There is much misunderstanding as to the motives of a missionary. We do not go because the nations to which we go are the worst in the world. Paganism is not something that can be pointed out on the map. It is something in the spiritual realm. Frontiers today are not geographical but moral. We go to the East because it is a part of the world, what we believe in for ourselves, we believe is valid for the rest of the world. We are not presenting western civilization to the East, for western civilization is only partly Christian. We tell the East to take what it finds good in our civilization, but we do not make it the issue."
"Neither do we impose our ecclesiasticism upon the East, for we have built up around Christianity some things that are not Christian. We put our ecclesiasticism at the disposal of the East and say 'Take what is good and will fit into your own national life.'"
"What we are trying to do is to give them Christ and let them interpret him through their own genius and life. If the East can show us something better than the Christ, then we will sit at the feet of the East."
"One of the first things that impels us as missionaries is a basic belief in men. The missionary enterprise believes in people, apart from race, birth and color. It says there are no permanently inferior peoples. There are undeveloped races, but there are untold possibilities in every human personality."
"We believe that each nation has something to contribute to the life of the human race. It would be a poor thing indeed for us to try to Anglo-Saxonize the world. It takes many instruments to make up a symphony; and many peoples to make a harmonious world."
"As we believe in the people of the world, we want them to develop economically, politically, socially, and morally. We do not believe the non-Christian faiths can produce this development. I have looked into the soul of the East; I have let the non-Christian speak at his highest and best, but I have come to the conclusion that these faiths are bankrupt; they have not sufficient resources to pay off the obligations they owe to their devotees. Every economical and social evil in the east is rooted in religion and you cannot

GUTHRIE-COACHED GRIDDERS DEFEAT CLARKSBURG, 13-0

Heiskell Snatches Fumble in Second Period and Races For Goal, While Davis Hits Line For Second Counter After Long March After Receiving Kick—Losers Fight Gallantly Through Game.

(BY REYNOLD GREEN.)
Circleville football fans who followed the Tiger aggregation to Clarksburg Friday afternoon witnessed one of the best gridiron battles of the season, with the Tigers romping to a victory over the hard fighting Clarksburg eleven, by a score of 13 to 0.
The Clarksburg eleven fought a real hard battle with the Tigers and is to be commended on its fighting spirit which was maintained throughout the entire game.
Gordon, Wilson, Adkins, Hill, Davis, Hundley and Heiskell made a good showing for the Tigers and they were fighting constantly during the game with a never-saying-spirit that eventually brought victory.
In the first quarter of the game Circleville kicked off to Clarksburg and Clarksburg returned the ball to Circleville territory where it changed hands frequently. Clarksburg started out with an aerial attack that at one time during the quarter nearly made them a touchdown when they succeeded in bringing the ball to the Tigers' five yard line before they lost possession.
HEISKELL SCORES
The second quarter the Tigers seemed to have revived a bit of their fighting spirit and the battle waged back and forth with neither team making much headway until on a misplay which was made by Clarksburg, Heiskell grabbed a fumble and made a 47-yard run for a touchdown. Davis made a dropkick for the extra point. The score was 7 to 0 in favor of the Tigers.
In the last quarter of the game after the third had been scoreless the Tigers again displayed a stubborn fighting spirit that could not be overcome by the Clarksburg boys. Davis of Circleville, in this quarter received a punt from Clarksburg and made a 45-yard return. Then after a series of first downs Davis scored a touchdown. Their attempt to score the extra point failed.
Clarksburg in desperation, tried pass after pass but failed to make any headway against the strong Tiger defense, and the game ended with the score 13 to 0 in favor of the Circleville Tigers.
Circleville tried only four passes, none of which were completed. Clarksburg resorted to the overhead attack almost throughout the game but of 15 flings only four hit their mark for only short gains.

Bulldog Invades New Georgia Stadium

Coach Mal Stevens (center) is sending his squad of footballers against an old enemy at Athens, Ga., where Yale will help the University of Georgia dedicate the new stadium shown (top). Yale, of course, with her revamped playing system, hopes for a fine showing. Deception has become the order of the day at New Haven instead of the old 4-in-1 line-up. Captain Firpo Green, one of the fiercest charging guards Yale has seen in many years, is leading a bunch of speedsters into the fray, not the least of whom is Charlie Sneed (left), who cavorts in the halfback position. Then, of course, Albie Booth, the Blue's newest star, will surely get his chance to strut his stuff.

Now's Time to Remind Him, Girls; "Sweetest Day" Falls On Oct. 19

CHICAGO—Add to what every girl should know that "Sweetest Day" for 1929 will fall on October 19.

And for that matter, to what every husband ought to know and mark on his shaving mug or put in his little red book.

"Sweetest Day" will fall on Saturday, Oct. 19. It was announced by Ferdinand A. Bunte of Bunte Brothers, candy manufacturers. "The day, which is a strictly American festival of joy bringing is a parent from every other gift-giving holiday because it's all in the spirit of surprise."

Children and adults both will observe the day this year, according to present indications as nationally as they do St. Valentine's Day or Hallows.

The idea is to give an unexpected gift, such as wholesome and nutritious candy, or some other present, to someone you love, someone who has done you a kindness, or one of those ill or unfortunate somebodies whose joys are few.

Thousands of letters from school children have been received by candy manufacturers, Mr. Bunte said, asking when the official "Sweetest Day" was to be held.

COUNTY TEAMS IN GOOD FORM

Williamsport Loses To Heavy and Veteran St. Mary's, 13 To 7.

Coach Vernier's Chillicothe football team ran rough-shod over the Washington varsity at Washington Friday to win a grid contest by the score of 22 to 0.
Two touchdowns were the result of blocked punts while a third followed a march down the field. A safety was also added to the Chillicothe score.
STERLING GAME
Mount Sterling and Plain City played to a scoreless tie at Sterling Friday.
The Mounts had the ball on the Plain City one-yard stripe when the contest ended.
Williamsport dropped a tough 13 to 7 contest to a heavy St. Mary's of Columbus team at Williamsport, Friday.
St. Mary's scored touchdown in each of the second and fourth periods while Williamsport scored in the first frame. The Columbus team had 16 first downs against three for Williamsport.
ASHVILLE WINS
A wide end run by McGlone, Asheville, fullback, for the extra point after his team's second touchdown, defeated Columbus St. Charles high school Friday at Asheville by a 13 to 12 score.
The game was hotly contested with each team fighting for its advantage.

Now's Time to Remind Him, Girls;
"Sweetest Day" Falls On Oct. 19

CHICAGO—Add to what every girl should know that "Sweetest Day" for 1929 will fall on October 19. And, for that matter, to what every husband ought to know and mark on his shaving mug or put in his little red book.

"Sweetest Day" will fall on Saturday, Oct. 19," it was announced by Ferdinand A. Bunte of Bunte Brothers, candy manufacturers. "The day, which is a strictly American festival of joy bringing, is different from every other gift-giving holiday because it's all in the spirit of surprise.

"Children and adults both will observe the day this year, according to present indications, as nationally as they do St. Valentine's Day or Hal-

COUNTY TEAMS IN GOOD FORM

Williamsport Loses To Heavy and Veteran St. Mary's, 13 To 7.

Coach Vernier's Chillicothe football team ran rough-shod over the Washington varsity at Washington Friday to win a grid contest by the score of 22 to 0.

Two touchdowns were the result of blocked punts while a third followed a march down the field. A safety was also added to the Chillicothe score.

STERLING GAME

Mount Sterling and Plain City played to a scoreless tie at Sterling Friday.

The Mounts had the ball on the Plain City one-yard stripe when the contest ended.

Williamsport dropped a tough 13 to 7 contest to a heavy St. Mary's of Columbus team at Williamsport, Friday.

St. Mary's scored touchdown in each of the second and fourth periods while Williamsport scored in the first frame. The Columbus team had 16 first downs against three for Williamsport.

ASHVILLE WINS

A wide end run by McGlone, Asheville, fullback, for the extra point after his team's second touchdown, defeated Columbus St. Charles high school Friday at Asheville by a 13 to 12 score.

The game was hotly contested with each team fighting for it's advantage.

FAMOUS GERMAN SPY IN ASYLUM

Fraulein Lesser, Known as "Master Mind," Is Drug Victim.

Berlin.—The mystery concerning the identity of the famous German woman war spy, who up to now has been referred to as Mlle. Docteur in France and as Mrs. Captain Heinrichs in England, has been cleared up. A few weeks ago the doors of a Swiss insane asylum were closed on Anne Marie Lesser, whose "master brain of the spies," as Colonel Nicolai, chief of German espionage, called her, was ruined by the excessive use of morphine in post-war years.

The daughter of a well-known Berlin dealer and art collector, Lesser, and of an Italian born mother who came from Brioni, she discovered her talent at the early age of seventeen years by mere accident. Accompanying her father to St. Petersburg (now Leningrad), a German military attaché with whom she became friendly told her he was endeavoring to get possession of the plans of a new Russian gun made at the Putilov works which were in the hands of a Russian general with whom her father was dealing. Under the pretense of copying a certain painting, Fraulein Lesser copied the plan and the thrill she got from this adventure induced her to devote herself exclusively to espionage.

Organized Spy System.
Coached by general staff officers, she developed an aptitude for the work, being greatly assisted by her unusual intelligence and her command of foreign languages. After the outbreak of the World war she began to work independently. During the war she went repeatedly to France and England to organize the German espionage system. Among her agents was the dancer, Mata Hari, who was put to death by a French firing squad during the war.

During one visit to Paris, where she went to give the chief agent, M. Coudyans, direct instructions, she was denounced to the French authorities by M. Coudyans' jealous fiancée, but escaped. She returned to Paris a few months later and received valuable documents from the Rumanian dancer, Rene Coloscu, which she decided to take to Berlin personally.

Stopped at Swiss Border.
She was stopped at the Swiss border and was escorted by a soldier. She followed, apparently willingly, but when out of earshot of the soldier's companion drew a concealed revolver and shot the guard dead. The next morning she appeared on the Swiss side and another guard was found dead at the border.

Her parents died during the war and left her a large fortune, which proved she was not after money, but loved intrigue more than life. When the war and its excitement ended she took to morphine, which completely undermined her body and mind and, although only thirty-four, she is dead to the world.

New York.—A statement of condition of the oldest savings account in the United States, one that has grown in 110 years from $15 to $2,773.86, was made recently by the Bank for Savings in the City of New York. Just 10 years ago John S. Thorpe opened an account with the bank, then the only bank in the state, with a deposit of $10. On August 26 of the following year he added $5, making the principal $15.

No withdrawals have been made from the account, and Thorpe's heirs own it, the executor having the passbook. A total of $2,738.85 has been added as interest.

Blue Blood And Red

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

EDDIE REGAN, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped and gone to Virginia, where he befriends Penfold Paradine, who dies and leaves all his possessions to Eddie. Eddie had been in love with Bernice Veressi, "gang girl," but thought of her as out of his heart when he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorndike. Eddie declares his love to Marian, but she discourages him and tells him she expects to marry Tom Freeman. Freeman dislikes Eddie, and one afternoon when Eddie is calling on Marian, Freeman comes in and insults Eddie. Marian tells Eddie it is hopeless for him to love her, and Eddie, discouraged, decides to go back to Richmond. While he is there he meets Mike Arno, a former member of the gang. Arno tells him that Bernice is still in love with him (Eddie) and Eddie's thoughts once more swing to her. Arno tries to make Eddie return to the city, but Eddie refuses and goes back to the farm. Freeman listens in on a conversation over the telephone between Marian and Eddie, and promptly rings Eddie back and tells him that things must be settled between them. They meet and a fight ensues in which Freeman is knocked out. Eddie puts Freeman in the automobile and takes him to Marian's house.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXXII.

THE great chest of the man on the bed began to rise and fall with a deeper breathing. He closed his eyes and then opened them again.

"Hello, Marian," he said in a peculiarly feeble voice. "I'll be with you . . . in a minute."

But his eyes were shut again and Eddie was moved with the conviction that it was dangerous to let the consciousness lapse, once it had been aroused. He took Freeman's head in his hands and massaged the temples, drew strong fingers through the scalp and down over the back of the neck.

"Snap out of it, Freeman! Wake up! You've got to put yourself together!"

He took Freeman by the shoulders and shook him.

"Don't be so rough with him," Marian protested. "You might increase his injury."

"I've got to be rough," Eddie said, nervously. "I've got to get him out of this."

"Don't you think we had better call the doctor, Eddie?"

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

A special train was chartered by Warner Brothers in the production of the screen's first Vitaphone operetta, "The Desert Song", coming to the Grand theatre, on Sunday, to transport the company from Hollywood to Yuma, Arizona, where a location had been selected on the Great American Desert.

Almost the entire cast was taken on this trip, and the personnel of the party also included a troop of French cavalrymen, and a large number of men to impersonate the Riff followers of the Red Shadow, scourge of the French government in Morocco. Various technicians and other production assistants brought the number of persons in the party well over the two hundred mark, and the train also included several carloads of horses which were used by the soldiers and the Riffs. During their entire stay in the desert the company lived aboard the train. Scenes of unusual beauty were obtained at this picturesque location, and add their share of interest to a production which is remarkable in every way.

AT THE METROPOLITAN

Not only on the stage and screen is Juliette Crosby, well known actress, a prominent figure but she shines with equal brilliance in the social circles of Washington, D. C.

Miss Crosby is the daughter of Oscar T. Crosby, who served as an assistant secretary of the Treasury Department during the Wilson administration, and was head of the treasury forces in Europe during the World War. Even before this association Mr. Crosby was prominent in the financial political circles of Washington, where the family made their home for many years.

Miss Crosby will be seen in her talking picture debut when "Paris Bound" comes to the Metropolitan theatre on Sunday and Monday. She is an important number of a cast which stars Ann Harding and includes Fredric March, Leslie Fenton, Ilka Chase, Carmelita Geraghty, Hal Cooley, George Irving and Charlotte Walker.

AT THE CLIFTONA

A face that, to quote herself, is "as Irish as the map o' Erin," suits Aggie Herring particularly well for the entertaining characterization she portrays in "Smiling Irish Eyes," Colleen Moore's romance of the Old Sod, which opens Sunday at the Cliftona theatre.

Hollywood producers have frequently used Miss Herring for Irish portrayals, "Fat And Mike," "Finnegan's Ball," "McFadden's Flats," and "The Cohens and Kellys" being among the pictures in which she played such characterizations. In "Smiling Irish Eyes," a first National-Vitaphone picture produced by John McCormick, Miss Herring is a member of a talented supporting cast, with James Hall, Claude Gillingwater, Robert Homans, Betty Francisco, Tom O'Brien and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

The expression "ship of state" was first used by Machiavelli in his political treatise, "The Prince." It was used by Longfellow in his "Building of the Ship."

Peculiar Thing in Life

If you choose to represent the various parts in life by holes upon the table, of different shapes—some circular, some triangular, some square, some oblong—and the persons acting these parts by bits of wood of similar shapes, we shall generally find that the triangular person has got into the square hole, the oblong into the triangular and a square person has squeezed himself into the round hole. The office and the office, the deer and the thing done, seldom fit so exactly that we can say they were almost made for each other.—Svdney Smith (1793-1845), "Sketches of Moral Philosophy."

It Hurt

Ellen Terry, to everybody's surprise, left $120,000. A New York actress was talking about her. "Her wit was sharp," the actress said. "Sometimes it was too sharp. She and I and three or four other actresses were standing behind the scenes at a benefit in a Broadway theatre one afternoon. A young and pretty actress said uncertainly: "I don't think I'll sing, after all. I'm sure they don't expect me." "Indeed they do expect you, darling," said Ellen Terry. "Don't you see them all leaving?"

IT'S A GREAT GAME
A quarter of a million boys are playing football in the United States this fall. This somewhat definite figure helps an understanding of the universality of the game in this country.

The number includes players on the squads of 567 colleges and 10,000 high schools in the 48 states. Take other than high school and college teams, take the thousands who try for their teams and fail, take scrub games on recreation fields and corner lots, and how many participate? The grand total might well be a million.

As developed from the British rugby by changes of the rules during more than 40 years, the game has become well-nigh wholly an American one. Its widespread organization is distinctly American.

Deplorable casualties, including an occasional death, still occur, but have been minimized by the rules of recent years. The prominence of the game insures their mention and increased participation increases the chances of injury. There seems reason for believing that the casualties in the organized game now existing are less in number than would be true among such a vast number in unorganized competitions of all sorts which inevitably would result if this outlet for youth's instinctive love of physical contests did not exist.

There are dangers: Lack of organization and proper direction at the bottom, hence helter-skelter struggles, mere fights; and over-emphasis of the game in crack schools and universities, with commercialism a sinister factor. Still, we should say that the size of our football game is to be taken as a sign of healthy, vigorous, sturdy manhood to come. It should breed discipline, cooperative action, skill, courage, a brave spirit and readiness of body and mind.

Those Days Are Past

In the mid-Victorian era there was an Anglican bishop who was noted for his dislike of confirming young women. A discreet inquiry on the subject produced the explanation that it was the profusion of hairpins in the heads of feminine candidates which was responsible for his reluctance—or, as he put it himself, "I take the lads but I leave the young porcupines to my horny-handed suffragan."—The Churchman.

Solved

Four-year-old Bobby, perched on his father's knee in the crowded bus, looked hard at the stout, gaudily dressed woman as she bustled in, snifled contemptuously, and wedged herself into the only seat left.

Then he turned to his mother. "Mum," he said, loudly, "it's a lady."

"Hush, Bobby, dear," mother checked him. "We know."

"But, mummy"—Bobby was puzzled—"you just said to dad, 'What ever's this object comin' in?'"

Telephone Poles

The number of telephone poles to the mile is usually 40 on heavily loaded lines and 30 on lightly loaded lines, except where there are many curves, when the number of poles may be more in either case.

CHAPTER XXXII.
THE great chest of the man on the bed began to rise and fall with a deeper breathing. He closed his eyes and then opened them again.

"Hello, Marian," he said in a peculiarly feeble voice. "I'll be with you . . . in a minute." But his eyes went shut again and Eddie was moved with the conviction that it was dangerous to let the consciousness lapse, once it had been aroused. He took Freeman's head in his hands and massaged the temples, drew strong fingers through the scalp and down over the back of the neck.

"Snap out of it, Freeman! Wake up! You've got to pull yourself together!"

He took Freeman by the shoulders and shook him.

"Don't be so rough with him," Marian protested. "You might increase his injury."

"I've got to be rough!" Eddie said, nervously. "I've got to get him out of this."

"Don't you think we had better call the doctor, Eddie?"

"Not yet," Eddie took a chunk of ice and rubbed it on Freeman's spine. No man partly conscious could resist the indignity of such treatment. An awakening vigor surged through the victim and he flung out a protesting arm.

"Hey—cut that out!" His voice was normal. Rapidly he batted his eyes.

His gaze fell upon Marian and suddenly he became aware that he was in bed and covered with a sheet except for the upper part of his body, which was scantily protected by his Summer undergarment. That, possibly, he had been near death, that he had fought and been defeated by his hated rival—all this vanished into insignificance. What startled and flooded him with humility was the fact that he was ridiculously immodest and helpless in the presence of Marion Thorndike. With a wild clutch he pulled the sheet up around his neck. His eyes avoided the girl and turned belligerently toward Eddie.

"You—you." His voice shook with rage. "You stole my clothes! Where's my shirt? Give it back to me!" Eddie motioned Marian to leave the room. He picked up the bundle of Freeman's clothes and shook the shirt out. They were alone.

"Here you are, old man," Freeman, confused and abashed, sat up in bed, submitting to the indignity of Eddie helping him into his garments. He reached for his collar and tie, staring balefully at his enemy.

"How do you feel?" Eddie asked him, apprehensively.

"I've got a headache," Freeman declared, antagonistically. "What I want to know is—how did I get here? I remember having a fight with you and then I woke up. You're making a fool out of me in front of a lady."

"I couldn't help it," Eddie protested. "I was trying to save your life."

But the iron had entered Tom Freeman's soul, and he had no patience with such trifling explanations.

"I'll just forget all about it," he murmured.

"It's still pretty hard for me to believe," Freeman went on, "that you licked me in a square stand-up fight. I thought I'd eat you up. Boy, you sure can hit hard—I must have been unconscious for half an hour."

"I think you hit your head on something when you fell," Freeman rubbed his jaw reflectively. "Well, I got no kick coming." He grinned ruefully.

"If Marian and her father want to stand for you—it's all right with me."

"That's the way I feel about you, too," Eddie told him. Marian returned to the room, her eyes widening with surprise at the apparent amicability between the former enemies.

"Oh!" she said. Freeman smiled at her sheepishly. "We've patched it up," he told her. "From now on we're both going to behave."

She looked from one to the other. Eddie's face, except for a red blotch on his temple, was unmarked, but Freeman's countenance was purple in spots and swollen. Both of them were as embarrassed as school boys. Neither of them could possibly know the relief she felt at this armistice.

"Well, in that case, suppose we all go downstairs?" This was her own house and, however bizarre the circumstances, she maintained her poised air of hospitality. "I think you two have behaved with perfect idiosyncrasy—but I'm simply delighted you have come to your senses at last. Do you feel all right now, Tom?"

"I don't feel like a million dollars but I'm pretty good," he responded.

There was no necessity of her inquiring about Eddie's condition. Obviously he was chipper and filled with a repressed cheerfulness. Downstairs, Freeman decided to drive on home and, temporarily at least, leave his rival in possession of the field.

"I didn't have a date here to-night and you did," he told Eddie. Marian looked at him with more suspicion than tenderness. He had suffered a severe physical jolt and there remained with her a fear that he had not quite recovered. No man who had been knocked unconscious could possibly be entirely recovered so soon.

The famous English divine, the bishop of Swansea, expressed himself as amazed beyond belief at the feverish rush of America.

"You work hard and you make hard work of play," he declared and added with a twinkle in his eye: "I fear that in America a day of leisure, spent quietly at home, would now have all the charm of novelty."

Four-year-old Patricia was washing her hands in her mother's bath room. She had no towel of her own in there, so when she had finished washing she looked toward her mother's towel rack, then hesitatingly toward her father's; then coming confidently to her mother, said: "I'll use your towel, mamma; we women must stick together."—Parents Magazine.

THEATRES

AT THE GRAND

A special train was chartered by Warner Brothers in the production of the screen's first Vitaphone operetta, "The Desert Song," coming to the Grand theatre, on Sunday, to transport the company from Hollywood to Yuma, Arizona, where a location had been selected on the Great American Desert.

Almost the entire cast was taken on this trip, and the personnel of the party also included a troop of French cavalymen, and a large number of men to impersonate the Riff followers of the Red Shadow, scourge of the French government in Morocco. Various technicians and other production assistants brought the number of persons in the party well over the two hundred mark, and the train also included several carloads of horses which were used by the soldiers and the Riffs. During their entire stay in the desert the company lived aboard the train. Scenes of unusual beauty were obtained at this picturesque location, and add their share of interest to a production which is remarkable in every way.

AT THE METROPOLITAN

Not only on the stage and screen is Juliette Crosby, well known actress, a prominent figure but she shines with equal brilliance in the social circles of Washington, D. C.

Miss Crosby is the daughter of Oscar T. Crosby, who served as an assistant secretary of the Treasury Department during the Wilson administration, and was head of the treasury forces in Europe during the World War. Even before this association Mr. Crosby was prominent in the financial political circles of Washington, where the family made their home for many years.

Miss Crosby will be seen in her talking picture debut when "Paris Bound" comes to the Metropolitan theatre on Sunday and Monday. She is an important number of a cast which stars Ann Harding and includes Fredric March, Leslie Fenton, Ilka Chase, Carmelita Geraghty, Hal Cooley, George Irving and Charlotte Walker.

AT THE CLIFTONA

A face that, to quote herself, is "as Irish as the map o'Erin," suits Aggie Herring particularly well for the entertaining characterization she portrays in "Smiling Irish Eyes," Colleen Moore's romance of the Old Sod, which opens Sunday at the Cliftona theatre.

Hollywood producers have frequently used Miss Herring for Irish portrayals, "Pat and Mike," "Finnegan's Ball," "McFadden's Flats," and "The Cohens and Kelsys" being among the pictures in which she played such characterizations. In "Smiling Irish Eyes," a First National-Vitaphone picture produced by John McCormick, Miss Herring is a member of a talented supporting cast, with James Hall, Claude Gillingwater, Robert Homans, Betty Francisco, Tom O'Brien and Robert Emmett O'Connor.

The expression "ship of state" was first used by Machiavelli in his political treatise, "The Prince." It was used by Longfellow in his "Building of the Ship."

Peculiar Thing in Life

If you choose to represent the various parts in life by holes upon the table, of different shapes—some circular, some triangular, some square, some oblong—and the persons acting these parts by bits of wood of similar shapes, we shall generally find that the triangular person has got into the square hole, the oblong into the triangular and a square person has squeezed himself into the round hole. The officer and the office, the deer and the thing done, seldom fit so exactly that we can say they were almost made for each other.—Sydney Smith (1759-1845). "Sketches of Moral Philosophy."

It Hurt

Ellen Terry, to everybody's surprise, left $120,000. A New York actress was talking about her. "Her wit was sharp," the actress said. "Sometimes it was too sharp. She and I and three or four other actresses were standing behind the scenes at a benefit in a Broadway theater one afternoon. A young and pretty actress said uncertainly: 'I don't think I'll sing, after all. I'm sure they don't expect me.' 'Indeed they do expect you, darling,' said Ellen Terry. 'Don't you see them all leaving?'"

Martyr to Science

Dr. Auguste Marie of the Pasteur Institute died in a search for a serum which would annihilate the bacillus botulinus which produces the fatal disease known as botulism. While experimenting, his left eye was touched by a drop of liquid containing bacilli botulin. Knowing that he was doomed, he set about recording a complete story of the progress of the disease. Within fortnight after the accident, in his laboratory he dictated the last word. He was post-humously awarded the Medaille d'Honneur des Epidemies, as a victim of devotion to the cause of humanity.

Good Trait of Turks

During the five centuries that the Turks held Bulgaria wild life had an excellent opportunity to thrive, since the Turks, although good hunters with falcons and greyhounds, are not inclined to kill for sport.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.
ARTICLE XII, SECTION 2.
PROPOSING TO AMEND SECTION 2 OF ARTICLE XII, AND TO REPEAL SECTION 3 OF ARTICLE XII, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF OHIO, RELATING TO TAXATION.
Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the state of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein:
That there shall be submitted to the electors of the state, for their approval or rejection, at the election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1931, a proposal to amend section 2 of article XII, and to repeal section 3 of article XII of the constitution of the state of Ohio; said section 2 of article XII, when amended, to read as follows:
ARTICLE XII.
Sec. 2. No property, taxed according to value, shall be so taxed in excess of one and one-half per cent of its true value in money for all state and local purposes, but laws may be passed authorizing additional taxes to be levied outside of such limitation, either when approved by at least a majority of the electors of the taxing district voting on such proposition, or when provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation. Land and improvements thereon shall be taxed by uniform rule according to value. All bonds outstanding on the first day of January, 1913, of the state of Ohio or of any city, village, hamlet, county or township in this state, or which have been issued in behalf of the public schools of Ohio and the means of instruction in connection therewith, which bonds were outstanding on the first day of January, 1913 and all bonds issued for the world war compensation fund, shall be exempt from taxation, and, without limiting the general power, subject to the provisions of article 12, section 1, of the constitution of this state, the purposes of conservancy districts and sanitary districts organized prior to said date, and all tax levies for other purposes authorized by the General Assembly, prior to said date or by vote of the electors of any political subdivision of the state, pursuant to laws in force on said date, to be made outside said statutory limitation for and during a period of years extending beyond said date, or provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation not subject to laws in force on said date, shall not be subject to the limitation of fifteen mills established by said amendment, and levies for interest and sinking fund or retirement of bonds issued or authorized prior to said date, shall be outside of said limitation to the extent required to equalize any reduction in the amount of taxable property available for such levies, or in the rate imposed upon such property, effected by laws thereafter passed.
Be it further resolved, That at the election, above referred to, the ballots to be used for the submission of this amendment shall set forth the full text of article XII, section 2, as proposed to be amended and the schedule thereof.
Adopted March 19, 1929.

SCHEDULE
If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, the amendment shall go into effect January 1, 1931, and original sections 2 and 3 of article XII of the constitution of the state of Ohio shall be repealed and annulled; but all levies for interest and sinking fund or retirement of bonds issued, or authorized prior to said date, which are not subject to the statutory limitation of fifteen mills on the aggregate rate of taxation then in force, and all tax levies provided for by the conservancy act of Ohio and the sanitary district act of Ohio, as said laws are in force on said date, for the purposes of conservancy districts and sanitary districts organized prior to said date, and all tax levies for other purposes authorized by the General Assembly, prior to said date or by vote of the electors of any political subdivision of the state, pursuant to laws in force on said date, to be made outside said statutory limitation for and during a period of years extending beyond said date, or provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation not subject to laws in force on said date, shall not be subject to the limitation of fifteen mills established by said amendment, and levies for interest and sinking fund or retirement of bonds issued or authorized prior to said date, shall be outside of said limitation to the extent required to equalize any reduction in the amount of taxable property available for such levies, or in the rate imposed upon such property, effected by laws thereafter passed.
Be it further resolved, That at the election, above referred to, the ballots to be used for the submission of this amendment shall set forth the full text of article XII, section 2, as proposed to be amended and the schedule thereof.
Adopted March 19, 1929.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, STATE OF OHIO.
Office of the Secretary of State.
I, CLARENCE J. BROWN, Secretary of State of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the foregoing is copied from and carefully compared by me with the original joint resolution adopted by the Senate and Assembly of the State of Ohio on March 19, 1929, and now on file in my office and in the official custody as Secretary of State, and found to be true and correct. Said joint resolution was filed in the office of the Secretary of State of Ohio on March 26, 1929, and I hereby amend section 2 of article XII, and to repeal section 3 of article XII of the constitution of the state of Ohio relating to taxation.
IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of said office at Columbus, Ohio, this 12th day of September, A. D. 1929.
CLARENCE J. BROWN, Secretary of State.

No property, taxed according to value, shall be so taxed in excess of one and one-half per cent of its true value in money for all state and local purposes, but laws may be passed authorizing additional taxes to be levied outside of such limitation, either when approved by at least a majority of the electors of the taxing district voting on such proposition, or when provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation. Land and improvements thereon shall be taxed by uniform rule according to value. All bonds outstanding on the first day of January, 1913, of the state of Ohio or of any city, village, hamlet, county or township in this state, or which have been issued in behalf of the public schools of Ohio and the means of instruction in connection therewith, which bonds were outstanding on the first day of January, 1913 and all bonds issued for the world war compensation fund, shall be exempt from taxation, and, without limiting the general power, subject to the provisions of article I of this constitution, to determine the subjects and methods of taxation or exemptions therefrom, general laws may be passed to exempt burying grounds, public school houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, institutions used exclusively for charitable purposes, and public property used exclusively for any public purpose, but such laws shall be subject to alteration or repeal; and the value of all property so exempted shall, from time to time, be ascertained and published as may be directed by law.

SCHEDULE.
If the votes for the proposal shall exceed those against it, the amendment shall go into effect January 1, 1931, and sections 2 and 3 of article XII of the constitution of the state of Ohio shall be repealed and annulled; but all levies for interest and sinking fund or retirement of bonds issued, or authorized prior to said date which are not subject to the statutory limitation of fifteen mills on the aggregate rate of taxation then in force, and all tax levies provided for by the conservancy act of Ohio and the sanitary district act of Ohio, as said laws are in force on said date, or for the purposes of conservancy districts and sanitary districts organized prior to said date, and all tax levies for other purposes authorized by the General Assembly prior to said date or by vote of the electors of any political subdivision of the state, pursuant to laws in force on said date, to be made outside said statutory limitation for and during a period of years extending beyond said date, or provided for by the charter of a municipal corporation pursuant to laws in force on said date, shall not be subject to the limitation of fifteen mills established by said amendment; and levies for interest and sinking fund or retirement of bonds issued or authorized prior to said date, shall be outside of said limitation to the extent required to equalize any reduction in the amount of taxable property available for such levies, or in the rate imposed upon such property, effected by laws thereafter passed.
Be it further resolved, That at the election, above referred to, the ballots to be used for the submission of this amendment shall set forth the full text of article XII, section 2, as proposed to be amended and the schedule thereof.
Adopted March 19, 1929.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, STATE OF OHIO.
Office of the Secretary of State.
I, CLARENCE J. BROWN, Secretary of State, of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the foregoing is copied from and carefully compared by me with the original Joint Resolution adopted by the 88th General Assembly of the State of Ohio on March 19, 1929, and now on file in my office and in my official custody as Secretary of State, and found to be true and correct. Said Joint Resolution was filed in the office of the Secretary of State on March 26, 1929, and to repeal section 3 of article XII of the constitution of the state of Ohio relating to taxation.
IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my official seal as Columbus, Ohio, this 12th day of September, A. D. 1929.

September 26, 1929,
Circleville, Ohio.

Dear Editor:

I arrived in Circleville this morning. I secured rooms at the home of Mrs. Doe, a widow and a kindly soul. This seems to be a very profitable town and I have hopes of doing well in my business here.

A very queer thing happened this evening though. Shortly past 7:30, I heard an awful lot of noise on the street, so I went outside to see what it was all about. Imagine my surprise when I saw a crowd of children, large and small, running down the street stampeding the sidewalks, riding on moving autos and climbing the parked ones. They were apparently raising THEIR kind of "Whoopie."

As I stood on the porch four boys ran across the lawn and plowed through the flowerbed.

It was some time before I could find out what it was all about. I found that they were high school students and that their football team was to meet a team called Walnut the following day. Their theme song seemed to be "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." I did not hear them sing their Alma Mater. This event they called a rally.

I was disappointed in their technique. How unlike the rallies that we had in my high school days it was! I remember how our school used to parade down the street, waving our banners. We would halt at several intervals and give yells, sing our Alma Mater and then yell some more for old—We did not use the sidewalks, but paraded in single or double file in the street.

We were never known to break the traffic regulations, yet we were lauded as being the best school spirit in the league. I sure would like to bring some of the boys here and show off in our way of throwing a rally.

I wonder why they don't form a pep club of those who pledge themselves to support their team, join the rallies, to yell hard and to "root" for their side—all without scattering energy over streets and alleys near the proper scene of the rally!

A Friend.
Boys and girls of C. H. S. shall we organize such a pep club and secure the greater blessings and fun of well regulated cheering or shall a lack of progressive spirit keep us behind the times in demonstrating our school loyalty?

THE SPORTSMAN'S CREED

Athlete—Is It Yours?
As the best book of the month we suggest to the active-hearted boys of C. H. S. the thrilling football story, Touchdown, in which:

"T. M. our profession is one of the noblest and perhaps the most far reaching in building up the manhood of our country. As I view it, no man is too good to be the athletic coach for youth. Not to drink liquors, not to gamble, not to smoke, not to swear, not to use smutty language, not to tell dirty stories, to shun loose and silly women—all these things should be the ideals of the athletic coach if he realizes his full opportunity for service and his calling to a consistently high and clean personal life. To be fair minded, to deal justly, not to play favorites, to avoid politics, to be honest in one's dealings, to shun petty and big graft, to give rebuke with justice, not to bear personal malice, not to harbor hatred toward rivals, not to be swell-headed in victory nor overblown in defeat, to be the sportsman and gentleman at all times, to stoop to no unfair practice but to win only by fair means should be the ideal of every coach," summarized A. A. Slagg, the veteran coach of the University of Chicago, in his chapter entitled A Coach's Creed.

MUSIC STUDENTS SIGN
Students who wished to take music for the ensuing year were given the chance Thursday when Helen K. Wittich visited each room and took the names.

Miss Wittich expects larger classes than in previous years.

WHY NOT A BAND?

It won't be long now, until the home game which will be played against Washington C. H. Washington has a very peppy team and is the possessor of an equally peppy band. Haven't we something lacking? Surely we students of C. H. S. have as much honest to goodness love for the reputation of C. H. S. as some other students have for their schools. Certainly we want our school to have all the push and backing that we are able to give her. Of course there is nothing like 100 per cent student (and faculty) cheering to encourage a team, but Oh My! how a nice peppy band— even a "Five and Drum corps"— can put the pep into a team that makes them feel like they are able to accomplish anything. Circleville has the material, why not a band? Think it over students!

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

"How to Save the Home from the Fire Fiend" is the title of the paper distributed in Circleville schools as a means of observing Fire Prevention week. This pamphlet is published by the Ohio Dry Cleaner's association, and contains information regarding the danger of gasoline and naphtha for cleaning purposes. Mr. F. E. Barnhill is responsible for the distribution of these valuable leaflets.

HIGH-ST GRADES ELECT

Richard Plum was elected president of the class at the sixth grade meeting held last week at the High-st school.

Matilda Davis and Marjorie Mader were elected vice president and secretary, respectively. Jane Littleton was chosen assistant secretary.

It was agreed to have a Halloween party, the date of which has not been set.

Montefiore Kirkwood was elected president at the 5th grade High st school.

Wahntia Barnhart and Rosemary Hammel filled the secretary and treasurers' offices respectively.

QUILL AND SCROLL ELECTS

Monday, at a general meeting of the Quill and Scroll members, Hilda Thomas, John Heiskell and Reynold Greene were nominated and elected chief, boss, and scribe respectively.

Members of this year's Quill and Scroll include: Virginia Richey, Myriam Hitchcock, Elizabeth Cady, Donald Rader, Helen Yates, Reynold Greene, John Heiskell and Hilda Thomas.

EIGHTH B. ELECTS

Dorothy Barthelmas, Thomas Pearce and Pauline Briggs were elected president, vice president and secretary, respectively, at the general meeting of the eighth B class Tuesday, Oct. 8.

Miss Yates will act as advisor throughout the ensuing year.

HI-Y MEETS

It was decided to send to Columbus for a Hi-Y song book at the meeting of the Hi-Y club held Tuesday noon in the physics department.

President Cartwright appointed a program committee consisting of Clarence Barnhart and Richard Nickerson, for the Washington-Circleville Hi-Y banquet.

There were business reports from various committees, followed by further club activity discussions.

MOORE CUTS KNEE

Coach (Dr.) Guthrie, assisted by Bob Rector, had another patient Wednesday afternoon when John Moore, freshman, gashed his knee playing baseball during physical education period. Moore was out of class but a few minutes.

MOORE '26 WEDS

Grover Moore, president of the class of '26, and football letterman was married to Marion Snook of Elvira, at Elvira, Ohio, Oct. 2. The couple will leave next Saturday for California for an indefinite period.

BLISS MIRROR

Among those on the honor roll this year at Bliss are: Veronica Kuhns bookkeeping; Helen Crist, calculation tests; Pauline Hill and Veronica Kuhns, penmanship.

Three members of Circleville's basketball team are enrolled at Bliss. Helen Crist, guard; Mary Nell, forward and Frances Jones, center and forward. All have brilliant records to their credit.

CAPITAL CHIMES

Alva Roof '29, former editor of the Red and Black is now a member of the K. A. P. society at Capital university.

NEW CABINETS

Another useful article has been purchased for the principal's office. This is a new filing cabinet for abner's and tardiness' excuses. The cabinet is built of oak wood and was purchased from Dotson and Evans Co., of Columbus.

JUNIORS TO PARTY

Oct. 31 is the date for the Junior's Halloween party as decided by that class Thursday evening. President Rooney appointed a booth committee for the Washington C. H. game. It consisted of Mildred Ritt, Cleo Brown, Jeanette Ruff, Sheldon Mader, Doris Peters, Charles Brown, Grace Steele, Mary Ryan and Martha Kinney. It was announced that the party would be a masquerade and that each person would receive an admission ticket when his dues were paid in full.

FRESH TO PARTY

Wednesday afternoon the freshman class held a meeting in the study hall, with President Gaines Hill as the presiding officer. During business of the meeting the class decided to hold a Halloween party on Nov. 8, and to also have a candy sale sometime in the near future. The girls volunteered to bring candy and the boys were assessed five cents each.

Blue and silver were the colors adopted by the freshman while the American Beauty rose was selected as the class flower.

A new rule was enacted by the class that anybody who was a member of that class would be fined five cents should he miss a meeting without a substantial excuse.

The following committees were then appointed for the coming party: Decorating committee, Rosemary Jackson, Betty Pickens, Orville Miller, Elwood McCreary, and Dorothy Thompson.

Refreshment committee: Ellen Bennett, Katharine Foresman and Gene Rader.

Entertainment committee: Mabel Dresbach, Stella DeLong, Betty Nelson, Ruth Moffitt and William Hegele.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Five seniors, Pauline Acord, Myriam Hitchcock, Mabel Good, Evelyn Steele and Hilda Thomas, and one junior, Virginia Nelson, who are taking domestic science, organized a Home Economics club, Wednesday noon.

Evelyn Steele was elected president; Mabel Good, vice president and Myriam Hitchcock, secretary and Myriam Hitchcock, secretary treasury. The president then appointed Pauline Acord, Virginia Nelson and Hilda Thomas to draw up a constitution. At the end of the first semester honor sophomores will be taken into the club. Gertrude Pigman is also a charter member and faculty advisor.

EPSILON MU SIGMA

Cleo Brown, Elizabeth Cady, Virginia Nelson, Meiba Pearce, Dorothy Riegel and Jeannette Ruff were initiated into the Epsilon Mu Sigma Monday evening.

The initiation followed the business meeting, with President Peters presiding, at which time it was decided that the club visit the state prison in the near future.

The candidates were taken to room 12 to await their turn to be taken to the domestic science room for initiation. The formal initiation came first and was followed with the "fun."

GIRL RESERVES

Girl Reserves opened the regular business meeting, Thursday afternoon, with a lively discussion of Proverbs 31: 10-31.

In the business discussion which followed it was decided that meetings would be held each Thursday noon. President Roundhouse appointed Doris Peters, Mildred Ritt and Grace Steele as a committee to prepare a hot lunch for next week's meeting. Wilmina Phebus was also appointed to collect the dues for lunch.

This meeting boasted a record attendance of 100 per cent.

LATIN TESTS

Tuesday, the freshman and sophomore Latin classes of Velma Rains were given modern Latin tests. Out of a possible 35 points for the freshman class, Charlotte Caskey, Alice Cummings, Mary Jane Lowe and Gene Rader made perfect scores.

In the test given to the sophomore class there was one perfect score or 100 points, made by Robert Greenlee. A score of 99 was made by Ethel Hussey and 98 by Jane Mader.

COLUMBUS DISPATCH

Catherine Groom who graduated from St. Joseph's academy '29, was appointed chairman of the alumni euchre party.

Pupils of the Columbus schools now have a school page allotted to them. Thursday of each week in the Dispatch.

The journalism teacher in each of the five local high schools has appointed one pupil to head the news gathering for the school. Those five who constitute the editorial board for the weekly Dispatch School News are Betty Jane Oyt, of Central, James Howells of North, Joe Hutchison of West, Carl Rothgeb of East and Marie Sawyer of South.

Problem for signature sharpers. Suppose both the guest and the hostess are waiting to see which fork the other will use first.—San Francisco Chronicle.

WHAT DO THEY READ?

In a recent Current Literature there was an article: "They are going to read But What?" Accompanying this article was a form containing blanks for listing favorite magazines and authors.

The English Literature class of Velma Watson filled in the blanks and following are some of the interesting facts gleaned from them.

"Good Housekeeping," "American Magazine" and "Life" are read more regularly by the seniors than any other magazines.

"The Saturday Evening Post," "McCall's" and "American Magazine" are read occasionally by most of the class. "Atlantic Monthly," "Harper's," "Review of Reviews" and "Scribner's" are never read by 85 per cent of the class. "Good Housekeeping" and "The American Magazine" are favorites with the girls while "Collier's," "Popular Science" and "Life" rank high with the boys.

Jack London and O. Henry are the boys' favorite authors while Grace Richmond, G. Livingston Hill, Temple Bailey are favorites of the girls. The boys still want mystery and excitement while the girls are satisfied with the "home life" type of literature.

TUITION PUPILS

"Sixty-four pupils attending the Circleville schools are tuition pupils," says Supt. Eagleson. Listed by townships they are:

Chillicothe Route No. 8—Price William Ashbrook, Fred Lutz Ashbrook; Circleville-twp—Wilbur Adkins, Margaret Ellen Adkins, Harold Brantner, Betty Ellen Betz, Frank Raymond Beck, John Goel, Ler Beck, Holman Miller Dunkel, Esther Eblin, Robert Elsea, Eleanor Evelyn Eitel, Dorothy Louise Glick, David Warner Glick, Carmel William Gulick, Margie Gulick, Paulene Hall, Paul Hill, Eloise Haulen, Evelyn Jane Klingensmith, Margaret L. Lanman, Betty Jane Lanman, Bernice May Liston, Avenelle Martin, Vonale Martin, Lucile Ruth Newland, Dorothy Mae Newland, Loring Harley Norris, Russell Edgar, Parish, Cecil Marie Parish, Petrunak, Stephen Valentine, Chas. Schlegler, Beatrice Irene Starkey, Hilda Louise Starkey, Lillian Roberta Starkey, Helen Louise Westenhaver, Mae Eleanor Westenhaver, Harriett Ruth Walters, Mary Ann Westenhaver, Marjorie Lee Westenhaver, Leland R. AMONG THE MISSING

Several well-known faces are absent from C. H. S. this year. They are Elbert Goeller and Paul Woodward, both members of last year's sophomore class. Paul is employed steadily at the Kroger grocery and Baking Co. in Kingston, and Elbert is following in the footsteps of a real business man, and is in attendance at Wichita High school in Wichita, Kansas. During the summer months he has been helping his brother Carl, carry on a broom-manufacturing plant there.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE HINTS

In case Miss Pigman should forget her cook book some morning when in a hurry, great pleasure is taken in copying some recipes which have been recommended by the Stephens College Standard. It is certain that the pupils will be anxious to try some of the newer recipes.

FROM

Take one shining floor, twelve parts of an orchestra. Mix and beat well at night. Add a tumbler of moonlight, perhaps two if the results desired are to be the finest. Mix in soft lights, add fluffy tulle in large quantities against shining white and black. Allow to (in recipes one should say "stand," but it's better to say) dance three hours. This makes a delicious dish for anyone.

SPRING—(NEW KIND NOT TO BE TRIED BY LOVERS)

Take two trees, with buds bursting from their wintry dress. Add a robin or two. Put in a dash of warm weather. Add a few white dresses and many black and white sport oxfords. Take a few cracks of a baseball bat and the whirling roar of skates. Add a renew lustiness of serenades. Put in a desire for a delicious rest and a longing to give up classes for their own good. Season with dusty curtains and dirty windows. Don't cook this mixture. It will last, with steady eating, for three months.

LOIS FERRIBY, A JUNIOR LAST YEAR,

is in attendance at Crosswell high school, in Crosswell, Mich. Lois is missed by many of her local friends.

Mr. Edwin S. Robbins was chairman for the evening, and called upon Mr. C. M. Haynes, district superintendent, Dr. J. S. Blair, Professor John Smith, and Rev. Johnson, who responded with short, snappy talks.

Later in the evening, the company repaired to the dining room, where refreshments were served, and the social evening continued.

BEST MAN AT LONDON WEDDING
Dr. and Mrs. David Bradley and children have returned to their home in Cincinnati after a short visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Jeffries of S. Scioto-st. While visiting here they motored to London, O., on Thursday to attend the wedding of Dr. Bradley's brother, Mr. Frank F. Branley, to Miss Helen Kennedy, at which Dr. Bradley acted as best man.

The marriage took place in St. Patrick's church Thursday at 8:30 a. m. The bride wore an ensemble of brown transparent velvet, and her hat and accessories were in harmonizing shade. Her flowers were yellow Pernet roses in corsage bouquet.

Her sister, Miss Gertrude Kennedy attended her and she wore an ensemble of navy velvet with hat and accessories of the same color. Her flowers were pink rosebuds in corsage bouquet.

Following the ceremony 40 guests were entertained at breakfast at the London Country club and among these were numbered members of the family with these guests from out of town: Dr. and Mrs. David Bradley of Cincinnati, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kennedy of Altoona, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Reed Miss Inez Hitchcock, Mrs. Paul H. Clyde of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell and daughter, Miss Catherine Bradley of Painesville; Miss Helen Claugh, Leon Caldwell and Thomas Bradley and the Misses Marian Smith and Lona Machler of Chicago.

Mrs. Bradley is a graduate of Ohio State university class of 1924 and since that time has served as assistant manager of the Faculty club, and for the past three years has been dietitian for Child's restaurant of Chicago. She is a member of Theta Phi Alpha sorority.

Mr. Bradley, who is manager of the Clintonville branch of the Mykranz stores, graduated from Ohio State university class of '26, and was a member of Alpha Sigma Psi fraternity.

The wedding journey will be spent in the east and after October 15, Mr. Bradley and his bride will return to Columbus to reside at 34 West Tulane-rd.

MARRIED HERE ON THURSDAY
The marriage of Zephir M. Rigot and Mrs. Alberta Saylor was solemnized Thursday evening at the Calvary Evangelical church parsonage on S. Washington-st. with Rev. C. W. Ruhman officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Goff of Circleville.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thompson of Columbus.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Rigot will be at home at 1590 N. 4th-st, Columbus.

MARRIAGE SATURDAY AT LOCAL PARSONAGE
Dr. McElfresh of the Methodist church, read the vows, Saturday of the marriage of Miss Lillie Shinn and Mr. Herman Schwartz, both of Columbus. The marriage took place at the parsonage at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz will make their home in Columbus after a short honeymoon.

Miss Nell Fawn of Portsmouth, was called here by the death of Charles F. Weaver, and is a guest at the Weaver residence on S. Court-st.

Grant Swearingen attended the Lancaster Fair, Friday.

September 26, 1929,
Circleville, Ohio.

Dear Editor:

I arrived in Circleville this morning. I secured rooms at the home of Mrs. Doe, a widow and a kindly soul. This seems to be a very profitable town and I have hopes of doing well in my business here.

A very queer thing happened this evening though. Shortly past 7:30, I heard an awful lot of noise on the street, so I went outside to see what it was all about. Imagine my surprise when I saw a crowd of children, large and small, running down the street stampeding the sidewalks, riding on moving autos and climbing the parked ones. They were apparently raising THEIR kind of "Whoopie."

As I stood on the porch four boys ran across the lawn and plowed through the flowerbed.

It was some time before I could find out what it was all about. I found that they were high school students and that their football team was to meet a team called Walnut the following day. Their theme song seemed to be "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." I did not hear them sing their Alma Mater. This event they called a rally.

I was disappointed in their technique. How unlike the rallies that we had in my high school days it was! I remember how our school used to parade down the street, waving our banners. We would halt at several intervals and give yells, sing our Alma Mater, and then yell some more for old—We did not use the sidewalks, but paraded in single or double file in the street.

We were never known to break the traffic regulations, yet we were lauded as having the best school spirit in the league. I sure would like to bring some of the boys here and show off in our way of throwing a rally.

I wonder why they don't form a Pep club of those who pledge themselves to support their team, join the rallies, to yell hard and to "root" for their side—all without scattering energy over streets and alleys near the proper scene of the rally!

A Friend.
Boys and girls of C. H. S. shall we organize such a pep club and secure the greater blessings and fun of well regulated cheering or shall a lack of progressive spirit keep us behind the times in demonstrating our school loyalty?

THE SPORTSMAN'S CREED

Athlete—It Is Yours?

As the best book of the month we suggest to the active-hearted boys of C. H. S. the thrilling football story, Touchdown, in which: "T mo, our profession is one of the noblest and perhaps the most far reaching in building up the manhood of our country. As I vie it, no man is too good to be the athletic coach for youth. Not to drink liquors, not to gamble, not to smoke, not to swear, not to use smutty language, not to tell dirty stories, to shun loose and silly women—all these things should be the ideals of the athletic coach if he realizes his full opportunity for service and his calling to a consistently high and clean personal life. To be fair minded, to deal justly, not to play favorites, to avoid politics, to be honest in one's dealings, to shun petty and big graft, to give rebuke with justice, not to harbor hatred toward rivals, not to be swell-headed in victory nor overblown in defeat, to be the sportsman and gentleman at all times, to stoop to no unfair practice but to win only by fair means should be the ideal of every coach," summarized A. A. Stagg, the veteran coach of the University of Chicago, in his chapter entitled A Coach's Creed.

MUSIC STUDENTS SIGN
Students who wished to take music for the ensuing year were given the chance Thursday when Helen K. Wittich visited each room and took the names.

Miss Wittich expects larger classes than in previous years.

HEALTH HABITS TAUGHT

WHY NOT A BAND?

It won't be long now, until the next home game which will be played against Washington C. H. Washington has a very peppy team and is the possessor of an equally peppy band. Haven't we something lacking? Surely we students of C. H. S. have as much honest to goodness love for the reputation of C. H. S. as some other students have for their schools. Certainly we want our school to have all the push and backing that we are able to give her. Of course there is nothing like 100 per cent student (and faculty) cheering to encourage a team, but Oh My! how a nice peppy band—even a "Five and Drum corps" can put the pep into a team that makes them feel like they are able to accomplish anything. Circleville has the material, why not a band? Think it over students!

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

"How to Save the Home from the Fire Fiend" is the title of the paper distributed in Circleville schools as a means of observing Fire Prevention week. This pamphlet is published by the Ohio Dry Cleaner's association, and contains information regarding the danger of gasoline and naphtha for cleaning purposes. Mr. F. E. Barnhill is responsible for the distribution of these valuable leaflets.

HIGH-ST GRADES ELECT

Richard Plum was elected president of the class at the sixth grade meeting held last week at the High-st school.

Matilda Davis and Marjorie Mader were elected vice president and secretary, respectively. Jane Littleton was chosen assistant secretary.

It was agreed to have a Halloween party, the date of which has not been set.

Monteford Kirkwood was elected president at the 5th grade High st school.

Wahnta Barnhart and Rosemary Hammel filled the secretary and treasurers' offices respectively.

QUILL AND SCROLL ELECTS

Monday, at a general meeting of the Quill and Scroll members, Hilda Thomas, John Heiskell and Reynold Greene were nominated and elected chief, boss, and scribe respectively.

Members of this year's Quill and Scroll include: Virginia Richey, Myriam Hitchcock, Elizabeth Cady, Donald Rader, Helen Yates, Reynold Greene, John Heiskell and Hilda Thomas.

EIGHTH B. ELECTS

Dorothy Barthelmas, Thomas Pearce and Pauline Briggs were elected president, vice president and secretary, respectively, at the general meeting of the eighth B class Tuesday, Oct. 8.

Miss Yates will act as advisor throughout the ensuing year.

HI-Y MEETS

It was decided to send to Columbus for a Hi-Y song book at the meeting of the Hi-Y club held Tuesday noon in the physics' department.

President Cartwright appointed a program committee consisting of Clarence Barnhart and Richard Nickerson, for the Washington-Circleville Hi-Y banquet.

There were business reports from various committees, followed by further club activity discussions.

MOORE CUTS KNEE

Coach (Dr.) Guthrie, assisted by Bob Rector, had another patient Wednesday afternoon when John Moore, freshman, gashed his knee playing baseball during physical education period. Moore was out of class but a few minutes.

MOORE '26 WEDS

Grover Moore, president of the class of '26, and football letterman was married to Marion Snook of Elyria, at Elyria, Ohio, Oct. 2. The couple will leave next Saturday for California for an indefinite period.

BLISS MIRROR

Among those on the honor roll this year at Bliss are: Veronica Kuhns bookkeeping; Helen Crist, calculation tests; Pauline Hill and Veronica Kuhns, penmanship.

Three members of Circleville's basketball team are enrolled at Bliss, Helen Crist, guard; Mary Neff, forward and Francis Jones, captain and forward. All have brilliant records to their credit.

CAPITAL CHIMES

Alice Roof '29, former editor of the Red and Black is now a member of the K. A. P. society at Capital university.

NEW CABINETS

Another useful article has been purchased for the principal's office. This is a new filing cabinet for absences' and tardiness' excuses. The cabinet is built of oak wood and was purchased from Dobson and Evans Co., of Columbus.

JUNIORS TO PARTY

Oct. 31 is the date for the Junior's Halloween party as decided by that class Thursday evening.

President Rooney appointed a booth committee for the Washington C. H. game. It consisted of Mildred Ritt, Cleo Brown, Jeanette Ruff, Sheldon Mader, Doris Peters, Charles Brown, Grace Steele, Mary Ryan and Martha Kinney. It was announced that the party would be a masquerade and that each person would receive an admission ticket when his dues were paid in full.

FROSH TO PARTY

Wednesday afternoon the freshman class held a meeting in the study hall, with President Gaines Hill as the presiding officer.

During business of the meeting the class decided to hold a Halloween party on Nov. 8, and to also have a candy sale sometime in the near future. The girls volunteered to bring candy and the boys were assessed five cents each.

Blue and silver were the colors adopted by the freshman while the American Beauty rose was selected as the class flower.

A new rule was enacted by the class that anybody who was a member of that class would be fined five cents should he miss a meeting without a substantial excuse.

The following committees were then appointed for the coming party: Decorating committee, Rosemary Jackson, Betty Pickens, Orville Miller, Elwood McCreary, and Dorothy Thompson.

Refreshment committee: Ellen Bennett, Katharine Foresman and Gene Rader.

Entertainment committee: Mabel Dresbach, Stella DeLong, Betty Nelson, Ruth Moffitt and William Hegele.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Five seniors, Pauline Acord, Myriam Hitchcock, Mabel Good, Evelyn Steele and Hilda Thomas, and one junior, Virginia Nelson, who are taking domestic science, organized a Home Economics club, Wednesday noon.

Evelyn Steele was elected president; Mabel Good, vice president and Myriam Hitchcock, secretary. The president then appointed Pauline Acord, Virginia Nelson and Hilda Thomas to draw up a constitution. At the end of the first semester honor sophomores will be taken into the club. Gertrude Pigman is also a charter member and faculty advisor.

EPSILON MU SIGMA

Cleo Brown, Elizabeth Cady, Virginia Nelson, Meiba Pearce, Dorothy Riegel and Jeannette Ruff were initiated into the Epsilon Mu Sigma Monday evening.

The initiation followed the business meeting, with President Peters presiding, at which time it was decided that the club visit the state prison in the near future. The candidates were taken to room 12 to await their turn to be taken to the domestic science room for initiation. The formal initiation came first and was followed with the "fun."

GIRL RESERVES

Girl Reserves opened the regular business meeting, Thursday afternoon, with a lively discussion of Proverbs 31: 10-31.

In the business discussion which followed it was decided that meetings would be held each Thursday noon. President Roundhouse appointed Doris Peters, Mildred Ritt and Grace Steele as a committee to prepare a hot lunch for next week's meeting. Wilma Phebus was also appointed to collect the dues for lunch.

This meeting boasted a record attendance of 100 per cent.

LATIN TESTS

Tuesday, the freshman and sophomore Latin classes of Velma Rains were given modern Latin tests. Out of a possible 35 points for the freshman class, Charlotte Caskey, Alice Cummings, Mary Jane Lowe and Gene Rader made perfect scores.

In the test given to the sophomore class there was one perfect score or 100 points, made by Robert Greenlee. A score of 99 was made by Ethel Hussey and 98 by Jane Mader.

COLUMBUS DISPATCH

Catherine Groom who graduated from St. Joseph's academy '29, was appointed chairman of the alumni euchre party.

Pupils of the Columbus schools now have a school page allotted to theme, Thursday o feast week in the Dispatch.

The journalism teacher in each of the five local high schools has appointed one pupil to head the news gathering for the school. Those five who constitute the editorial board for the weekly Dispatch School News are Betty Jane out, of Central, James Howells of North, Joe Hutchison of West, Carl Rothgeb of East and Marie Swoyer of South.

Problem for etiquette snarps: Suppose both the guest and the hostess are waiting to see which fork the other will use first.—San Francisco Chronicle.

WHAT DO THEY READ?

In a recent Current Literature there was an article: "They are going to read—But What?" Accompanying this article was a form containing blanks for listing favorite magazines and authors.

The English Literature class of Velma Watson filled in the blanks and following are some of the interesting facts gleaned from them. "Good Housekeeping," "American Magazine" and "Life" are read more regularly by the seniors than any other magazines. "The Saturday Evening Post," "McCall's" and "American Magazine" are read occasionally by most of the class. "Atlantic Monthly," "Harper's," "Review of Reviews" and "Scribner's" are never read by 85 per cent of the class. "Good Housekeeping" and "The American Magazine" are favorites with the girls while "Collier's," "Popular Science" and "Life" rank high with the boys.

Jack London and O. Henry are the boys' favorite authors while George Richmond, G. Livingston Hill, Temple Bailey are favorites of the girls. The boys still want mystery and excitement while the girls are satisfied with the "home life" type of literature.

TUITION PUPILS

"Sixty-four pupils attending the Circleville schools are tuition pupils," says Supt. Eagleson. Listed by townships they are:

Chillicothe Route No. 8—Price William Ashbrook, Fred Lutz Ashbrook; Circleville—twp—Wilbur Adkins, Margaret Ellen Adkins, Harold Brantner, Betty Ellen Betz, Frank Raymond Beck, John Goelzer Beck, Holman Miller Dunkel, Esther Eblin, Robert Elsea, Eleanor Evelyn Eitel, Dorothy Louise Glick, David Warner Glick, Carlin William Gulick, Margie Gulick, Paulene Hall, Paul Hill, Eloise Hanley, Evelyn Jane Klingensmith, Margaret L. Lanman, Betty Jane Lanman, Bernice May Liston, Avenue Martin, Vonalee Martin, Lucile Ruth Newland, Dorothy Mae Newland, Loring Harley Norris, Russel Edgar Parish, Cecil Marie Parish, Petrunnah, Stephen Valentine, Charles Schlegler, Beatrice Irene Starkey, Hilda Louise Starkey, Lillian Roberta Starkey, Helen Louise Westenhaver, Mae Ruth Walters, Mary Ann Westenhaver, Marjorie Lee Westenhaver, Leland R. Siegwald; Wayne—twp—William G. Barthelmas, Helen Buzzard, Josie Anna Collett, Nina Cooper, Eleanor Rosella Dean, Lawrence Dowden, Elizabeth Ellen Dowden, Russell Frank Dunlap, Hazel Marie Lanman, Gertrud H. Lanman, Sara V. May, Marion Lutz Mowery, Daisy M. Myers, Lucy Miner, Gertrude Parks, Mary Marvine Riffle, Cecil Southward, Olive Weaver, Clara Waugh; Washington—twp—Lydia Lorina Given, William Robinson.

AMONG THE MISSING

Several well-known faces are absent from C. H. S. this year. They are Elbert Goeller and Paul Woodward, both members of last year's sophomore class. Paul is employed steadily at the Kroger grocery and Baking Co. in Kingston, and Elbert is following in the footsteps of a real business man, and is in attendance at Wichita High school in Wichita, Kansas. During the summer months he has been helping his brother Carl, carry on a broom-manufacturing plant there.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE HINTS

In case Miss Pigman should forget her cook book some morning when in a hurry, great pleasure is taken in copying some recipes which have been recommended by the Stephen's College Standard. It is certain that the pupils will be anxious to try some of the newer recipes.

PROM

Take one shining floor, twelve parts of an orchestra. Mix and beat well at night. Add a tumbler of moonlight, perhaps two if the results desired are to be the finest. Mix in soft lights, add fluffy tulle in large quantities against shining white and black. Allow to (in recipes one should say "stand," but it's better to say) dance three hours. This makes a delicious dish for anyone.

SPRING—(NEW KIND NOT TO BE TRIED BY LOVERS)

Take two trees, with buds bursting from their wintry dress. Add a robin or two. Put in a dash of warm weather. Add a few white dresses and many black and white sport oxfords. Take a few cracks of a baseball bat and the whirling roar of skates. Add a renew lustiness of serenades. Put in a desire for a delicious rest and a longing to give up classes for their own good. Season with dusty curtains and dirty windows. Don't cook this mixture. It will last, with steady eating, for three months.

Lois Ferriby, a junior last year, is in attendance at Crosswell high school, in Crosswell, Mich. Lois is missed by many of her local friends.
